OBITUARY

Benjamin Banks was married to Phoebe E. Shipman April 29, 1849. Unto this union were born five children: Moses, William A. John H., Anna Elizabeth and Benjamin.

John H. Banks was the third child of this union. He was born March 20, 1854. He and Rachel Haddock were married March 9, 1873. Unto this union were born five children: Anna, Denver, Maud, Julia and Johnnie.

John Henry Banks met a very sudden death at his home December 1, 1909. Mr. Banks professed faith in our Lord while he was yet a young man between the ages of seventeen and eighteen and united with the Cumberland Presbyterian church at old Mt. Comfort and remained of that faith till death claimed him.

Mr. Banks was a man who was very widely known and respected by everyone who knew him. He was a man who was a friend to everybody and always had a pleasant word or live sally for his friends.

His death was a very great shock as he had not been sick at all. He was lively as usual and was joking with his wife not ten minutes before he died. He had helped his son Johnnie who was cleaning out the barn a while Wednesday morning and told him that he had to quit because it made his breast hurt, so he quit and went up to the old Rumbaugh place where Ernest Fleetwood was digging potatoes and stayed around with him quite a little while joking and throwing rocks out of the potato patch. When he went back home he took a nice big potato and gave it to Mrs. Banks and joked her and told her Ernest had given it to him and he would give it to her.

Along in the afternoon he took the hay knife and cut the hay out of the door at the barn to get it out of the way so they could throw their corn in. When he went to the house he told Mrs. Banks that his breast hurt a little and she told him yes, that he had gone down there and got hot working with that hay and then stood on the cold ground and it had given him cold again and he would be sick.

At supper time he seemed to be much better and ate a good supper. After supper Johnnie got ready and went to prayer meeting and Mrs. Banks, as was her custom when Mr. Banks took cold, as he has been troubled with bronchial trouble so much, heated water and bathed him and doctored him. And he told her that he felt all right now and that he was almost well again and he wanted her to go fix the bed good so they could rest good, so she left him, not the least bit uneasy about him.

She hadn't gotten the covering raised off the bed when she heard him call her heard him fall, and heard the stove book rattle and she ran as hard as she could to him. She saw him lying on the floor and ran and grabbed him up but he was gone, giving only one or two gasps after she raised him in her arms. She dragged him round with his head in the door and opened the doors to give him plenty of air. Seeing that she could do nothing alone she ran out to the front porch and screamed, thinking that they would hear her at the church. Denver came running up to her, having been almost there on his way home from prayer meeting and heard her scream the first time. Denver saw that his father was dead. He ran to the telephone and called for help. In a few minutes neighbors came in but could do nothing.

Mr. Banks leaves a wife, two sons, two daughters and a sister, Anna Browning, of near Jolly, with a host of friends to mourn his loss. The family have the deepest, heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in this dark hour of their deep sorrow and bereavement, and our prayer is, may God help and strengthen them through it all. The funeral was conducted by Bro. McCombs at the family residence Friday morning at 11 o'clock and the body was laid to rest in the New Site cemetery by the side of his daughter Maude, who preceded him to the grave six years ago.
